SOUTHERN ENTRANCE TO THE YANGTZE.

SURVEY of a Section of the SOUTHERN ENTRANCE TO THE YANGTER, extending about 16 miles outwards from the Small Kiutoan Boscon, which was completed on the 7th Instant, shows that a Middle Ground or Shoal, with a width of from to to a mile and having from 6 to 18 feet of water on it, stretches nearly 7 miles in a Southeasterly direction from a point N. 64° E. distant 2 do miles from the Kiutean Beacon and that the channel to the North-eastward of this Middle Ground is at present wider. deeper, and more direct than the one on its South-western side.

The Straits Insurance Co., Ld......30,000$ · Notice is hereby given, therefore, that on or about the 29th Instant, the present Blockhouse Shoal Buoy will be removed the Kintoan Lightship will be moored off the South-western edge of Blockhouse Shoal, about 310 miles N. 71° E. from the Kiutoan Beacon and 11 miles N. 34° from her present position; and the Middle Fround will be marked by two red and black Mertically-striped Buoys-the one on its outer or South-eastern end carrying a diamond-shaped cage and the one on its inner end a triangular cage. When the above changes have been made. Vessels entering by the Northern Channel should, in order to make a mid-channel course, keep the Tungsha Lightship bearing S. 55° E. till she is 8 miles distant, and then steer to make a course N: 45° W. passing about 2 cables to the South-westward of the Kiutoan Lightship. After passing the Kintoan as directed, a Vessel may steer to make a course N. 56° W. till the Small Kiutoan Beacon bears S.W.

The least depth found on the above courses was 21 feet-in the channel between Blockhouse Shoal and the Middle Ground. All bearings and courses given are mag. HK. High-Level Tramways Co., Ld. 1,2508 netic, and the depths are for low water spring tides. A. M. BISBEE,

THE EMPEROR WORSE.

LONDON, 19th April. His Majesty the Emperor Frederick appeared at the window of the Palace amidst great enthusiasm. He became worse in the evening, and now pyremia is feared.

[Pymmia, or purulent infection of the blood, is a disease whose exciting cause is the introduction of decomposing animal these cases, if it acts at all, is rapidly absorbed and diffused, and the blood under goes certain changes, the nature of which chemistry has as yet failed to detect. Within twenty-four hours, in very acute cases there are severe shiverings, headache, and giddiness, followed by heat, perspiration, and accelerated circulation. In twentyfour hours more, the patient may be in a hopeless condition, delirious, and rapidly closely resemble those of typhoid fever, and in this form, the disease is a common cause of death, after surgical operations. It is only, however, when there are predis- Worship now found the charge proved and posing causes that the poison acts so soverely. THE accident which happened early th morning to the s. s. Ashington teaches once more the need for having fog signals at our light houses. Many vessels have narrowly escaped meeting the same accident, have almost been wrecked within pistol shot our light-houses during fogs. That there should be no fog signals connected with our light-houses, while all the Chinese lights along the coast are provided with them, not very creditable to local enterprise, an the sooner the deficiency is made good the

The O. S. S. Co.'s steamer Achilles, from As we indicated before, the report of the Government Inspector of Schools is a docu. ment well worthy of perusal and study by The O. S. S. Co.'s steamship Prometheus, every one interested in the progress of the from London, left Singapore on the Colony. In imparting a good education to the young of all races in this colony we are a Canadian Pacific Line steamer Balavia doing a great work, which is sure to yield left Vancouver on the 4th instant for rich results in the near future. Not only are we preparing youths, who as his Excellency remarked on a recent occasion, are made ready to go forward as missionaries of European civilisation to their countrymen and to contribute largely to that awakening of China, of which we now hear so much, but we are in a more humble sphere introducing the leaven of European ideas and methods of training among the children of the poorer class of Chinese, and this leaven is bound in the process of sake; Hymns, 180 & 199; Voluntary, time to spread itself over the whole lump. With what care and judiciousness, however, the thin end of the wedge has to be introduced may be gathered from Dr Eitel's description of how he is leading the masters in the native schools to teach their children arithmetic on Western principles. Once elementary text books are provided and the initial difficulties overcome, we have no doubt the progress in this respect will be much more manifest. If we are to judge by figures our educational progress has not been altogether uniform. Up till 1884 there was year by year continuous annual increase, but from 1884 to the beginning of last year the increase was checked and it is not yet in ratio to the increase of the population. There are many disturbing influences which affect the attendance of children at school. The presence of epidemics and the spread of stupid rumours like these circulated a year or two ago about the slaughtering of innocents for the consecration of Tytam water works have often seriously diminished the attendance. We cannot, however, judge accurately of such matters by comparing Mr. Sercombe Smith gave decision to-day comparatively short periods of time. All in the case in which Fung Achuk, trader, real progress fluctuates more or less. And 58 Bonham Strand, and Tung Alam, a shop | when we look back a decade we find that the coolie, were charged at the instance of the number of scholars under Government suopium dross farmer with having been found | pervision has increased about 75 per cent. in the waters of the Colony in possession of The quality of the education has likewise been steadily improving. It is also pleasing to read that the education of girls, so sorely from the complainant. Mr Caldwell, who neglected by the natives themselves and till appeared for the defence, maintained, it within recent years so scantily attended to even in Hongkong is making rapid progress, and that girls now form 30 per cent. of the had brought the opium in question here for total number of scholars. It is, as one might naturally expect in the Central School that the best fruits are seen. No principal opium farmers to do so, which he longer content with giving the boys a fair held was sufficient. He contended that by knowledge of English, such higher subjects the original grant from the Crown the as mathematics, chemistry, bookkeeping, Latin &c., have been introduced. There is, as Dr. Eitel points out, a great danger with regard to prepared and dross opium of sacrificing multum for multa; and the were vested in the opium farmers or their advisability of introducing any new subject should be well considered before any steps assigns; that the word assigns necessarily are taken. For example, the study of implied by operation of law the privilege Latin can be of little utility to any boy who does not wish to follow out his education in Europe. It can be of so practical of their privilege; that in the agreement of use to him for any post he may be called 29th February, 1888, the principal farmers to in China. The utility of studying the matter into the circulation. The poison in did not give to the dress farmer the whole authorities at Home, and certainly little of their privilege with reference to dross can be said in favour of their introduction opium; that upon that instrument certain here in a public school. On the contrary, reservations were expressly made, and that subjects having practical relation to these reservations put the complainant out commerce ought to be encouraged in every way. It must never be forgotten that the majority of the pupils at our schools have sufficient linguistic which the charge was brought controlled gymnastics in studying their own native languages and the English language. Dr Eitel, we abserve, is on the whole sanguine of the good results that will attend His the introduction of the Cambridge Local Examinations. He does not overlook the drawbacks but thinks they will be counterbalanced by the healthy impulse which will be given to the study of the higher branches of an English education. There is one point touched on in the report that ought to receive, immediate attention by the about disastrous floods that occurred about authorities, that is the improvement of the native school buildings in the villages. The whole function of education is not performed when we cram a child's head with strings receive some attention. What conception dark windowless low-roofed room ? We are sure a great deal of the best kind of education, real genuine culture, might be obtained if something were done to improve these places. We trust that the report of the Government Inspector which is full of suggestive facts will not be shelved but will

Gazette, thus displayed on the occasion of be the highest of all. the inauguration of the Mare-aux-Vacous waterworks :- The Hon. Mr Ambrose propeacd the health of Sir John Pope Hennessy which was drunk amidst great enthusiasm. All present rose, and three cheers in honour of the absent Governor worlt forth ringing to the skies. It was noticed, however, that the Hon J. Ferguson remained scated, and that the Hon. C. Antelme did not drink, but hastened to leave the battlefield.

M. PASTEUR, who if he has not 'gone up like a rocket and come down like the stick is cortainly not the success he was once thought to be, has taken a new departure : having failed to convince the world that hair of the dog that bit you is a remedy if the dog is mad, he has given himself up to hospitality. It is difficult, however, for an apostle of vivisection to become genial all in a moment. His first dinner was given the other day, I read, to a number of rabbits, fowls, sheep, and other animals-to whom he certainly owed something. The mem consisted of a variety of dishes, all of them seasoned with microbes of chicken cholera, and the object of the entertainment was to see the rabbits and fowls succumb to this fare, while the others were none the worse for it. By this he hopes to prove that his scheme for destroying all the rabbits in Australia by inoculating them with a virulent and hereditary disease will succoed, and gain him the £25,000 offered for their extirpation. As the Laurente once wrote when asked to express his admiration of a certain poet, "I dare not say what I think of this gentleman.' Curiously caough Dr. Darwin (the first), in his ' Temple of Nature, suggests a scheme for the extirpation of rate in England by importing from America some which were suffering from tapoworm to infect them. That was · bad enough; but perhaps it was 'only his (for the family were full of it) and, besides, rats are not rabbits.

MR James Payn, in his notes in the Illustrated London News, writes as follows . -There has been a great sensation about thirtoen trumps being held in one hand;] have played at whist on every 'lawful day' for forty years and have never seen it hap-We are now told it has 'often' happened, but not often at home; it requires a development. I have seen twelve trimps held in one hand again and again; but they practical joke at the University. If a man times agree to deal him a hand that would astonish him. It did. But the great fun. gentleman who is playing poker with hand that cannot be beaten. Then you see to what lengths it is possible for a human being to carry duplicity. He looks wretched; but ventures to back himself for a small stake. Everybody dues the same, gradually increases his venture. The fortunate one also thinks he will risk a little more. His friends do not know which admire most, his hesitation at first, or his hardihood afterwards. When he imagines he has won a thousand pounds or so, he is presented with a document, signed by all prosent, which admits him into the secret. He is generally a little disappointed, and sometimes cross; but the 'happiness of the greatest number ' is secured. As to these thirteen trumps in a single; hand. I have not a word to say, either against it or the veracity of card-players generally; but, amongst other advantages there is no doubt that the practice stimulates the imagination. Southey, who quite free from projudice in the matter, and couldn't even spade a spade of his own knowledge, has embalmed a curious anecdote upon the subject. A party of respectable persons, who knew they were doing wrong, left the Opera House on Saturday night to attend the faro-table at Mrs. Sturt's. In the middle of their game-and, of course after midnight—they heard a thunder-clap and felt a slight shock of an earthquake. That didn't stop them; but presently the clubs became the colour of blood, and the hearts, black, when they thought it high time to leave off. This happened nearly a hundred years ago, in 1776, and has not, believe, occurred since.

As General Boulanger is now the hero the day the following, from Figure, will i terest some people :- About eight or ten weeks before the fall of the Goblet Cabinet, Mms. Reival, a fortune-teller, was summoned to the house of a lady to exercise her art of palmistry. Among others the Minister of War asked her to tell his fortune, and it is affirmed that, without having any idea who he was, she examined his hand, and declared that he was a soldier who had served his country on the battlefield, and would again be engaged in war, General Boulanger pretended that she was mistaken whereupon the fortune teller 'I am only telling you what I see in amination, and added: 'You are in an unhoped for situation, but you will not keep it. A fall is awaiting you shortly, but do not despair. Later on you will obtain an even higher position. The lines of your hand indicate that you will almost reach a throne." A little later Mme. the 17th or morning of the 18th. The pas-Reival was told that it was General Bou- sengers, mails, and treasure were rescued langer to whom she had made the above predictions. The same paper gives another prediction of the General's success in arms and rise to her off. power, but the time for the fulfilment of one part of it has gone by, and that may weaken its effect on some people :- Very shortly after this the General was at the house of was under the command of Cap'ain Reed, one of Dr Charcot's friends, and in presence of that celebrated professor the conversation naturally turned ou hypnotism. double vision, magnetism, and nervous Pable, in opec of need. A young woman who was regarded as a good subject was then put into a magnetic sleep questioned by General Boulanger. Like the fortune teller, she predicted his approaching fall, which was to be accompanied with numerous popular movements without bloodshed. She added 1 foresee in the near future great commotion and upsetting of things. It is terrible. The French and Germans cannt live at peace. A war will break out between them. but no one else will take part in it. It will be before the 28th March next year.' These predictions were made at the end of March last year. She proceeded :- 'The war will last eight months. There will be terrible anccesses and reverses. In the end the French, led by General Boulanger, will definitely triumph. But, whatever they do, they will not be able to go beyond the Rhine, where peace will be signed. Then on the other side of the Rhine I see revolution, shattered crowns and thrones over-

This is the disclosure, by the displacement of a mass of sand, during the last high tides, of a forest that must have been buried for some twenty centuries at least. The situation is just opposite Saint Malo, at the foot of the cliffs of Saint Enegat and Saint Lunaire. The forest is supposed to have once extended from Saint Malo to beyond Mont Saint Michel. This discovery is considered of great scientific interest, as it affords a remarkable illustration of the gradual sinking of the French shore. The progress of this sinking during the last 2,000 years is clearly shown in an old map found at the Abbey of the Mont Saint Michel Within no more than seven centuries back as many as seven parishes are said to have disappeared by the sub sidence of this region. And in the Bay of Donarnenez there is known to have existed in the fifth century quite a flourishing town called Is, the scene of the famous tragical legend. Even now, at low water, may be seen the old walls of Is, which are called. by the inhabitants Mogber Greghi (wall of the Greeks). The people of the country pretend that they can sometimes hear the old church bells of the submerged city ringing with the motion of the current.

STRANDING OF THE STEAMSHIP ASHINGTON.

The s.s. Ashington, rico-laden from Suigon, (Captain Reynell), while steaming through Sulphur Channel about one o'clock this morning went ashore on the Hongkong side, close to the extreme west point. The weather is said to have been somewhat thick when the vessel struck, although this is not stated as the cause of the stranding. One version of the story is that the Captain, finding he was somewhat too near the Hongkong side, gave tropical climate for such an extraordinary an order to the Chinaman at the wheel to starboard the helm, but the man did the were always put there. It was a favourite opposite and landed the ressel on the rock. Believing the vessel to be only held loft the room the other men would some alightly, Captain Reynell kept the engines going astern for some time, but finding her is. The Police launch from Tsim-tsu-sui, with Inspector Corcoran and a party of the Water Police on board, proceeded to the spot immediately after the rockets were observed. On daylight dawning it was seen that the steamer was held-by some pieces of submerged rock underher bows and within a few yards of the shore. She remained standing without any list, and as there was very little motion in the water she did not suffer from bumping. The work of transhipping the cargo into junks was commenced as soon as possible; and on the water rising the vessel floated off about one o'clock and proceeded to her buoy in the harbour. She will likely be docked, after her cargo is discharged. The damage done is, we understand, confined to her | That surely we can find a better outlet for forward compartment.

THE SAN PABLO ASHORE.

The Agent for the O. & O. S. S. Company received a telegram last night from Shanghai, stating it was reported there that the San Publo, which is two days over due here with the American mail, had gone ashore on the Tan rock, by Tan Island. North of Turnabout, and about 30 miles South of Foochow-a very bad place. This morning he received another cable message from Shanghai informing him that the San Pablo's passengers, mails, and specie (amounting to $190,000) had been brought on to Shanghai. On receipt of the news, the agent here wired at once to Maczo, where the City of Peking had gone to load some cargo, after clearing from Hongkong for Japan and San Francisco, requesting Capt. Dearborn to keep a good look out on the way up and to pass near Turnabout, to see if he could render any assistance. The your hand.' 'FRAGRANT WATERS' MURMUR That it is so far satisfactory, in connection with the Cargo-boat strike, that the boatmen have only struck work, and no other violence has followed.

That the wisdom of the Government in framing the rules now objected to, is a matter upon which the community is not quite unanimous, many inclining to think that the Government are asking too much. That an impression is abroad that the boatmen have to report to the Registrar General every time they have a new job in a different boat, and this was generally condemned as a piece of unnecessary offihardy Norseman's house of yore was on the stormy sea,' and the Hongkong boatman lives affoat, how can he be said to change his abode, it being licensed under Government?

That this floating abode the change of which has to be so promptly reported is perhaps the 'hypothetical tenement' about which so much hypothetical nonsense was expended some time ago.

That the Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, I hear, had these same Rules submitted for their consideration longago, and that the large shipping agents on that Committee might have foreseen trouble had they been keeping their weather eye open.

That no doubt the Government possess ample information and should be in a favourable possession to judge what is best to do, when coping with the lawless Guilds and Triad men.

That, considering the notoriously unruly character of the Cargo-boat people and the long innings, they have had of squeezing the mercantile community. most of us are inclined to applaud H. E. the Governor for putting his foot down and if he succeeds in putting the Guilds in harness, he will have achieved a much-needed reform.

That so far we have got along fairly well without the cargo-boats, and possibly the native merchants are the greatest auffer-

That there are rumours that His Excellency has said 'This is not my measure,' and in consequence many people are asking "Who's is it!"

That whoever the Adviser general was who suggested all the details of this new constitution for the Cargo-boat population, he could never have studied shipping business, and whoever drafted the Rules deserves a C. M.G.

That it would have been better had the Government in this case not had to uphold one or two of the more irksome points in the regulations; but that the unreasoning and unreasonable opposition of the contumacious coolies must be beaten down before anything can be con-

That the Wharf and Godown Company have acted in a wise and patriotic manner in not taking advantage of the necessities of the community as they might have done, and their reward will come anon. That the shelving of the reorganization of the Fire Brigade may have been expedient and perhaps necessary, but it is not altogether creditable to the Govern-

Mr Wodehouse's acknowledged talents than that of Fire Superintendent, the duties of which he does not and cannot be expected to understand.

That no one desires to curtail his salary, and if it be only a question of salary, surely the Finance Committee can fix that matter and rescue Mr W. from what cannot but be an unpleasant position, notwithstanding that gentleman's well known independence of character.

That I see the Surveyor General is to give us quite another reason than the his torical one for 'remember, remember the month of November.'

That His Excellency the Governor will no doubt be a wiser man-perhaps we shall all be wiser if not sadder-when November has come and gone.

That Hongkong residents are so accustomed to promises that, when any of these by accident get fulfilled, the date should be marked as a red-letter day in our history.

That it must be pleasing to residents to find that the Governor is ready to furnish information on public questions in Council, and as so much depends upon the advent of this Taitam stream into town, it ought to be cheering news to learn that the merry month of November has been officially named as the period when the refreshing waters of the Big Bore shall be 'in town.'

That the brimming Reservoir at Pokfulam sets all anxiety at rest as to any further water-famine, but residents somehow do not seem to be so sanguine as Mr Price as to the Taitam water being 'in town and over those seven-storeyed houses by Novvember next.

That although I should have liked to hear more about the Water works and to have cross-examined Mr Price as to grounds for his official belief and the truth or faith that is in him, I note with regret this ead unbelief that is so prevalent in the Colony.

That I see you stand up for the Colonial Treasurer, and freely speak your mind about Insurance Agents who represent Home and Continental Offices.

That in so doing you will, I fancy, express the views of a very large majority of this That the opportunity of inspecting the community.

That what has come before the Supreme Court and appeared in the papers fully justifies the remarks made by Mr Lister as to the tendency of the mode of business adopted by certain firms here.

That a debate in the Legislative Chamber is very different from an argument before the Chief Justice during the hearing of a suit, and that Mr MacErren made but little by his superfluous defence of man's license, does not seem clear,-must That Mr MacEwen's fling at Mauritius would have been well placed, had not Sir G. F. Bowen, Sir W. H. Marsh, and Mr E. J. Ackroyd all left the Colony.

That Governor Des Vœux does not quote Mauritius, because he knows nothing Singh, Hav. Major Labh Singh. about it.

That it is satisfactory to learn that, in spite of the somewhat disconnected and jerky nature of the remarks made by the Senior Unofficial Member in Council ('rather curtly made,' is the mild expression used by the Governor about them), and a slight tendency to expend their force inside his vest and around his shirt front, the few words he fired off about the Rating Ordinance proved to be the death-blow to the Machinery clause.

That concerning this long, weary, weary effort to set a lamp on the hill so that it may not be hid-an endeavour Blandy. to fulfil a scriptural injunction which has been going on for some say twenty years. -I have a little soggestion to make.

That the Cambridge Local Examinationsthey are all the fashion now, according to the Inspector of Schools, and no family should be without them-should in future embody this question :-- 'If it takes us twenty years to beget a hope of getting a fully-admitted want supplied at our own cost, How long will it take to get the guns placed in the fortifications ofter we have fully paid for them?'

That His Excellency's remarks indicate that oven Caesar is sometimes sick at heart over the vagaries of the Circumlocution Office, and certainly the almost hopeless maze of red tape by which we are surrounded and hampered make one marvel how anything ever gets put through at all.

That any enterprising M. P. might rise to fame were he to make a platform of the grievances of this poor Crown Colony.

That the gist of the matter of taxing machinery appears to have been missed by the Council. That, as I take it, the machinery-owning establishments have been already taxed greatest of them (the Dock Company) having had its former rating very nearly doubled during the last four years.

That the reason is self-evident, and it would have been useless to pass a measure that has already been acted up to.

That rumour has it that His Excellency the Governor is insisting upon having 8 sec. vouchers for all public money that has been spent laid before him personally in the first instance—a most praiseworthy practice, situated as we are.

That I have for some time, back expected to hear that the Admiralty intended to listen to reason, from the elever way in which Naval men have persistently evaded any discussion on the contemplated exodus to Kowleong.

That our Educational system seems to be one of the good things we have got, and the able Report of the Inspector of Schools is worthy of all attention.

That the Celestial pedagogue who compounds with his Conservative conscience and uses an arithmetical book 400 years old, rather than give way to new metheds, would be terribly disgusted to find that this same primer was indirectly the work of M. That in some quarters there is a feverish haste to inaugurate gigantic public works and to contract loans; but I think it would be well to pause and consider how enterprise here is almost killed by the preposterous Crown rent of £40 per acre. THE DISPUTE BETWEEN MISSIONARIES AT SHANGHAL

The following are some of the statements put forward by Dr Farnham in his defence, in the action brought against him by Rev. G. F. Fitch, of which we gave some account a few days ago :--

'That the plaintiff has not legal capacity sue on behalf of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the Disposal Fund,' which is, of course, not United States of America.

That the action taken by the said Board as set forth in paragraph 7 of the petition was irregular and contrary to the prescribed rules and usages governing the said Board. That both the offices of Treasurer of the Mission and Superintendent of the Press are permanent offices, and the person or | which is determined by the amount of their persons holding either of those offices cannot be displaced except for incapacity or malfeasance. That defendant, being fully aware of the facts, did, with the approval of the said Board, upon his appointment to the office of Superintendent of the Press, present, as a free gift; certain Presses and other material for printing purposes, valued at about $2,500, which he would not otherwise have

That all the alleged proceedings taken by the said Board for the purposes of displacing the defendant from his offices are the result of false and defamatory information supplied to the Board by the plaintiff or other Missionaries. That in consequence of such false and defamatory information, the said Board has been misguided, and their action the defendant believes to be irregular and contrary to his rights as a member of said Mission, and to his civil rights, and is calculated to injure him. The defendant therefore prays :-

That the petition be dismissed with costs, and that the defendant have such other and further relief as to this Honourable Court &c. The Council for the defendant moved the Court on the 14th instant for a continuance of the suit on the following grounds : -That there is pending an appeal from the action of the said Board (taken by it during the month of June, 1887, and more particularly on the 6th day of September of the same year), to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of the U.S. of Americe and that the subject matter of such appeal is the same as the subject matter of this action. That the said General Assembly will convene at Philadelphia on the 17th day of Gold Leaf, 100 fine ... 33.60 May next when the said appeal will be duly | Sovereigns, brought forward before such Assembly, That it is absolutely necessary for the interests of the deponent that he be present at the trial of this appeal before the said General Assembly. In order to be present at such Assembly, it will be necessary for deponent to leave Shanghai for America on or about the 16th day of this present month. A further ground for asking a continuance of this action lies in the fact that material and important evidence bearing upon the matters at issue can only be obtained from New York or other places in the United States, and that it will require several months to obtain the same.

The motion was at first opposed, but after some discussion His Honour General Kennedy suggested that all parties might best be served if they consented to the appointment of a Receiver to act as Superintendent of the Mission Press while Dr. Farmuam proceeded to America. He made the suggestion merely to harmonise matters better met in this way than by going into every detail in Court. An informal conversation between the

and after several names of missionaries had been suggested and rejected for one reason or another, both plaintiff and defendant agreed to the appointment of the Rev. J A. Silaby as Receiver over the property till further notice, his appointment not to be regarded as prejudicing the case on either

Dr. Farnham intimated his willingness to hand over the books of the Treasurership of the mission to Mr Fitch at once but this was to be regarded as quite a distinct matter from his position as Superintendent of the Press, and the plaintiff took charge of the books.

His Honour expressed his satisfaction for the sake of all parties that this course had been adopted; as removing some of the difficulties and asperities of the case, which now remains in situ.

LATE HOME NEWS

ENGLAND AND PERSIA. Constantinople, 17th March.-Sir H. D Wolff leaves this afternoon for Batoum, on his way to Teheran. It is understood hore that the policy of England's new Representative at the Persian Court will be to advise the construction of railways, and generally, by associating England with the economical development of the Shah's dominions, to neutralise Russia's political activity at Teheran.

EMPEROR FRIEDRICH'S DOINGS. Berlin, March 18 .- In accordance with the tradition which makes gratitude a leading virtue in the character of the Hohenzollerns, one of the first official acts of the Emperor Frederick was to bestow the Order of the Black Eagle on his old teacher and trusted adviser, Dr von Friedberg, the now been followed by the bestown of the The Chung Nyoi San-po says :- Now that rank of Field Marshal on Count Blumonthe Austrian and French wars. Blumenthal is the oldest General by seniority of rank, and is now the only Field Marshal in the German Army besides Count Moltke and the Emperor Frederick himself. As a further token of his profound respect, his Majesty has sent his own Marshal's baton to Count Blumenthal, with the request that he will use it till his own is ready. The Count is in his seventyeighth year. His wife is an English lady born at Catthorne, in Warwickshire, It is interesting to note that three of the most distinguished living German officers, Counts Moltke, Blumenthal. and Waldersee, have or have hadfor Moltke is a widower-English wives, the large number of junks, which are on The Emperor has bestowed distinctions on their way to Tientsin, but we are pleased to some other Generals who have acted as his be able to state that, as yet, there have Aides de Camp, and have thus become his

A slight change for the worse is already perceptible in the Legislative bodies both in the general treatment of affairs and in the attitude of the majority towards the minority. There was great surprise yesterday in the Prussian House of Deputies at the absence of Court Chaplain Stocker, Baron Hammerstein, and Herr Kropatscheck, the three main pillars of Orthodoxy and Ultra-Conservatism, when their amendments on the Public Worship Budget came on for discussion. These amoudments had been for months a bone of the hottest contention in the Press, and hadbeen carried in the first and second readings only by a small majority. Yesterday they were utterly rejected, as even the Ultra-Conservatives did not deem it necessary to support amendments whose original movers did not think it worth while to be present

With regard to the financial position of the Emperor a good many incorrect statements have been made. As German Emperor he has no Civil List, but only a applied to his personal uses. As King of Prussia he has an annual income of twelve million two hundred and nineteen thousand two hundred and ninety-six marks, out of which, towever, he has to defray the appanages of all the Prussian Princes and Princesses of the blood, the amount of private fortunes, and is not made public.

-The Open Court. GO IN AND WIN.

What'er thy thoughts design to do Do thou with all they might pursue. Be sure you're right, then go ahead. This golden maxim keep in view :

Ere opportunity has fled ! Perform the work you aim to do. Upon the threshold of your task Stand not, O man, with faltering feet Brace up ! In leisure's sunshine bask Not till your structure is complete. When shines the sun, when bright's the day, To make your hay at once begin ; With night will come the time for playand win.

If golden fortune be your aim, Take off your coat, your sleeves uproll. Though Fortune is a fickle dame, She smiles upon the brave of soul. But if she frown, still hee your row, Pursue her, no surrender make ; The favors she will not bestow Upon you, you by force may take. Life's prizes are by labor got, They come to those who toil and spin. Strike, strike the iron while it's hot-

If Beauty be your heart's desire, Your mode of action is the same : Be bold, persistent, never tire, Unsworvingly pursue your aim. If other suitors round her press, Give them no chance their lave to tell.

Azid win.

Be first your passion to confess, Rush in and storm the citadel. For Beauty smiles on those who dare, And flies the craven as 'twould sin. ' None but the brave deserve the fair,' And win.

could see nothing, and only faintly hear their voices above the rushing wind. We soon found out, however, for father, and Frank soon returned and lifted mother and I out of the sleigh and carried us-where into father's cyclone cave. We starid about in stupid amazement, for Joe had brought a lantern along, and h had lighted and hung it up. A moment later we were joined by the minister from Bunker, who, finding it possible to get away, had started.

The men blanketed the poor horses, haddled them together close to the mouth of the cave, turned the sleigh-box up beside them as a partial shelter, then, bringing my trunk, lunch-basket and the robes, ioined us.

The temperature of the cave was comfortable compared with the upper air, and we were truly thankful for the exchange. Vigorous and continued exertion soon restored our benumbed limbs to their normal condition, and we settled down to a quiet discussion of the situation and the probabilities in our favour. After a 'time the talk languished, and

Frank made, in a whisper, the queerest proposition. I gave a decided negative, hut at last yielded to his entreaty, and almost before the rest realized what was going on we stood before the minister with clasped hands, and he was speaking the solemn word that bound us for better or worse, for life.

It was a strange bridal, in that low, dark cave lighted only by the smoky lantern, the terrible blizzard howling overhead, and death lurking near in the fearful cold, which steadily increased, mother eried softly, and father's voice trembled as he gave me his blessing. Frank's face was very white as he clasped me in his arms and called me wife. My own feelings were a mixture of terror and Imppiness, such as I hope never to experience again. We remained in our safe but gloomy refuge forty-eight hours. Then we were dug out by my brothers and a party from Bunker, who were in search of the minister and had found us by the mounds caused by the snow drifting over the poor horses.

Two were dead, and the other had to be killed, he was so badly frozen. Huddled together under the ground with fifteen feet of sn w over us, we had not suffered badly, and the lunch backet filled by mother for Frank and me on our journey, had sufficed to keep us from actually suffering from hunger. Perhaps some who know of these circumstance may read this and vouch for its
